To judge the character of a working, power, and allowance for manifestation, is to understand some timed events of a working and help yourself advance to a level of a better and fuller immersion.

Which in infancy, is the start. The first day of the working is the first insertion and declared reality that you want to manifest. This is where you focus on establishing the seed and entering the new reality of your working. Doing this willingly will make a difference, as to will during the first day of your working that all of your affirmation has been given life and the act of establishing this reality is now presiding. The words defining these intents to use can be - entering, allowing, creating, generating, penetrating, connecting. As you see these words, think for yourself, should I be entering a new karmic force by this working, do I generate these forces added onto my soul? am I allowing for said thing to become? Do I create this purpose now? Do I connect to a source of the said subject?

Understanding the nature of your working, what you need, and how you operate this reality is very important. As there are clear differences and these differences will show.

The following days of a working are where you establish this every day, feed this powerful. Here you can focus on some things, the energetic aspect during your vibrations, seek and glimpse, hold and amplify the energy of your vibrations with an anchor to your body. Make the moments of your work the most immersed and qualitative work that you can do.

The energy can be produced presently, here, and you can "hold" and perceive this. Focusing on the sensorial aspects can amplify this. At ranging levels, you can enter and shift your perception wholly into the body of the energy that you access-produce. The effects of the vibrations invoke and open within you, an energy that can make you perceptive, heightened, and expanded. You can focus on these symptoms too.

About the affirmations, don't be afraid to take your time to visualize and implement forces such as color, light, geometry, and then even more layers of intent such as for money - attraction as in intention of inhaling and magnetizing in your soul - such as - openness as in intention of being open from within to outside which is your scope - all of these are of your whole body.

The workings are acts of which you use your whole being. When you intend penetration for a working of removing obstacles or when you intend uplifting for a working of advancement, all of these have a direction in your mind, such as forward, upward, spherical and so on. These are geometric links that you can will from your whole body by intending so. Meditating to encourage this mind-to-body aspect is very important as well as yoga.

Another added layer to these is your emotions. Every human irrespective of intensity and degree has experienced all of the most basic emotions and some have cultivated more elevated sentiments.

You can entice these emotions and invoke them into your visualization, such as your visualization becoming a living and touching experience.

You can reverberate and expand the chakras in your workings. When you intend creation, expression, being, materializing, and so on, you can do this from the Sacral Chakra during vibrations and affirmations.

Never do this without extra energy and never from your life force as is!! You have to prepare with empowerment and so on.

To do this you will feel the Light at the Sacral Chakra expand and pour into the working. (this should happen by design ie. Be advanced sufficiently)

For other purposes and higher manifestations, advancement, you can reverberate only the affirmations, from your Heart chakra.

To do this, you will speak profoundly your affirmation with your spine straight, with the tone of the voice at the chest, and feel the chakra vibrate your spoken words. The focus here is the generator and regulator of vibration and reality.

You can use your Solar Chakra for any solar or fire working as well. To do this, the same as with the Heart, you tune to the Solar chakra and let your vibrations and affirmations be given to reality by the Solar chakra during the whole working.

The focus here is forward and speed. Rapid incursion, rapid manifestation.

The end of a working must be utilized, and you can intend completion, wholeness, truthfulness and so on on the last working.
